while none of this can be proven true, what is true is that chow would eventually leave his master and go on his own, forming his own kempo style that he referred to as kara-ho kempo.

these will be explained to you on the ward, but we have written them down for you to keep in a handy place at home.

buy-pharma.md