6 million arthroscopic knee surgeries are performed each year in the U.S., and the numbers are only thought to go up as baby boomers get older.