be passed through the body without inconvenience or hurtful consequences if you are on sexual intercourse.

After 24 hours, the researchers asked the participants to repeat what they learned during the first day of the experiment.

When the best and brightest decide they can’t afford to be veterinarians, it’s more than our pets’ health that will suffer in the long run; it’s our own as well.