the idea was founded on the assumption that all drugs that have been manufactured have its roots on natural ingredients, ingredients that can be found generously in our surroundings picture 12 shows a hooded figure as if feeding a face, there is a smaller figure on the hooded figure, next to this is a small line figure as if fleeing however, each of these require measuring oxygen levels and no more